

PERSONAL AND SOCIETY.

All society and personal notes for the Sunday issue of the Journal, to secure publication, must be in the hands of the city editor by Saturday noon.

It had not been for the farewell receptions and informal gatherings for the military companies during the week there would have been very little to record socially. The McCarthy Guards, of Little Rock, with the ladies who accompanied them from that city, were given a reception by their sponsor, chaperon and maids of honor at the residence of Mr. D. W. Coffin, on North Meridian street, Miss Elizabeth Ray and Mrs. Henry Schurmann gave a farewell to the Belknap Rifles. Miss Bettie Ketchum had a reception for the National Fencibles. Mrs. D. F. Swain and the Misses Herron entertained the Branch Guards, and Captain and Mrs. James R. Curtis gave a small company to the judges of the drills. The Omaha Guards were the hosts at an elegant dinner to the friends who had entertained them, and nearly all of the companies made a round of farewell calls upon their sponsors, maids of honor and chaperones.

After the usual excitement and gaiety incident to the encampment social life is returning to its normal condition. Wednesday occurred the marriage of Miss Jennie White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. White, and Mr. Ernest M. Elliott, at the family residence on North East street. Thursday evening one of the prettiest lawn parties of the season was given by Mr. Stoughton Fletcher to his daughter Ruth and the Misses Florence, Carrie and Katharine Malott to mark the home-coming of this party of five, who have recently returned from a three months' visit to the Pacific coast. Thursday afternoon Mrs. O. H. Hasselman gave an elegant reception to her aunt, Mrs. Somers, of Washington, and yesterday was the occasion of a brilliant reception given by Mrs. W. M. Johnson for Mrs. and Miss Cooke, of Terre Haute. There have also been backboard parties and church entertainments, the latter being the widest dispersion in which some people indulge. Backboard parties, rides and picnics to Fairview continue to attract the great majority, who are compelled to spend the greater part of the summer at home.

Indianapolis women have never dressed so tastefully and handsomely as they are doing this summer. The party gowns at Mr. Fletcher's lawn party were exquisite, and all the costumes for the encampment parties were noticeably attractive. This city is noted for its pretty girls, and in the dresses in which they appear this season they well deserve all the charming things that can be said of them. What a distinct style is no one person seems to know, except that flat hats and flounces are the most pronounced. Whatever is becoming and pretty can be worn, be it high or flat, full or scant, short or trailing. Even fur capes were quite popular for some days.

Personal Mention.

Rev. V. W. Tevis and family are visiting his father, Dr. J. S. Tevis, of No. 291 Bellefontaine street. Mr. Tevis is pastor of Wall-street M. E. Church, Jeffersonville. He has been very sick and is enjoying a vacation of two months given him by his official board.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Beveridge will leave Wednesday for Nobscaum, Mass., to spend a month or six weeks. They will be joined later by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Shaffer, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Coffin, Mr. and Mrs. T. E.

Hanghey, and Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Carey, Miss Mary Howe and Mr. W. J. Lavin, who sang at the last music festival, will also be of the party.

Mrs. W. F. Johnson and her daughters Maie and Maud, accompanied by Miss Anna Eller, of Muncie, leave for Keokuk, Ia., to-morrow to be absent one month.

Society Events.

A marriage will be solemnized between deaf mutes, at Christ Church, next Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock.

The North-side Cooking Club held its last meeting for the summer, Thursday, with Miss Kate Smith, on Pratt street.

A backboard party to Millersville, on Wednesday, was given in honor of Misses Edith and Nellie Holland, of Ottawa, Ill., and Miss Miller, of Frankfort. Supper was spread at Mrs. Haugh's for the party.

A party of friends were pleasantly entertained at the home of Miss Mary Williams, No. 379 Bellefontaine street, Friday evening. Excellent music was rendered by Miss Lizzie Thompson and the hostess, and various games were played.

Mr. Elmer E. Smith was very pleasantly surprised by the members of the Young America and Turtle clubs and their lady friends, last Thursday evening, at his home on North Alabama street. Music and dancing were the features of the evening.

One of the pleasantest entertainments of the week was a gathering of young people at the residence of ex-Sheriff King, 48 Horon street, in honor of his niece, Miss Inez Leeper. The evening was passed in music and games. Miss Leeper was a charming young hostess.

A backboard party of sixteen young people, chaperoned by Mrs. Paul, of Philadelphia, went to Allisonville Friday evening. Among the guests were Miss Louise Davis, a visitor at Dr. Gaston's, Mr. John Windstandley, visiting Fred Ayers and Will Squier, a guest of Robert McQuat.

Mrs. W. D. Voris and daughter Opal, of East Seventh street, entertained a small party of friends Friday afternoon in honor of her niece, Miss Margaret Voris, of Anderson, who has been spending a week with her. A delightful time was had by all present. As favors bunches of Marguerites were given. Miss Voris left for the city to visit to friends and relatives in Franklin yesterday afternoon.

The Zig-zag String Quintet gave a serenade among their many friends last Wednesday evening. This organization is of good talent and a small program was rendered by the members at each place.
